The Three Little Pigs

KIDS BOOK VIDEOS

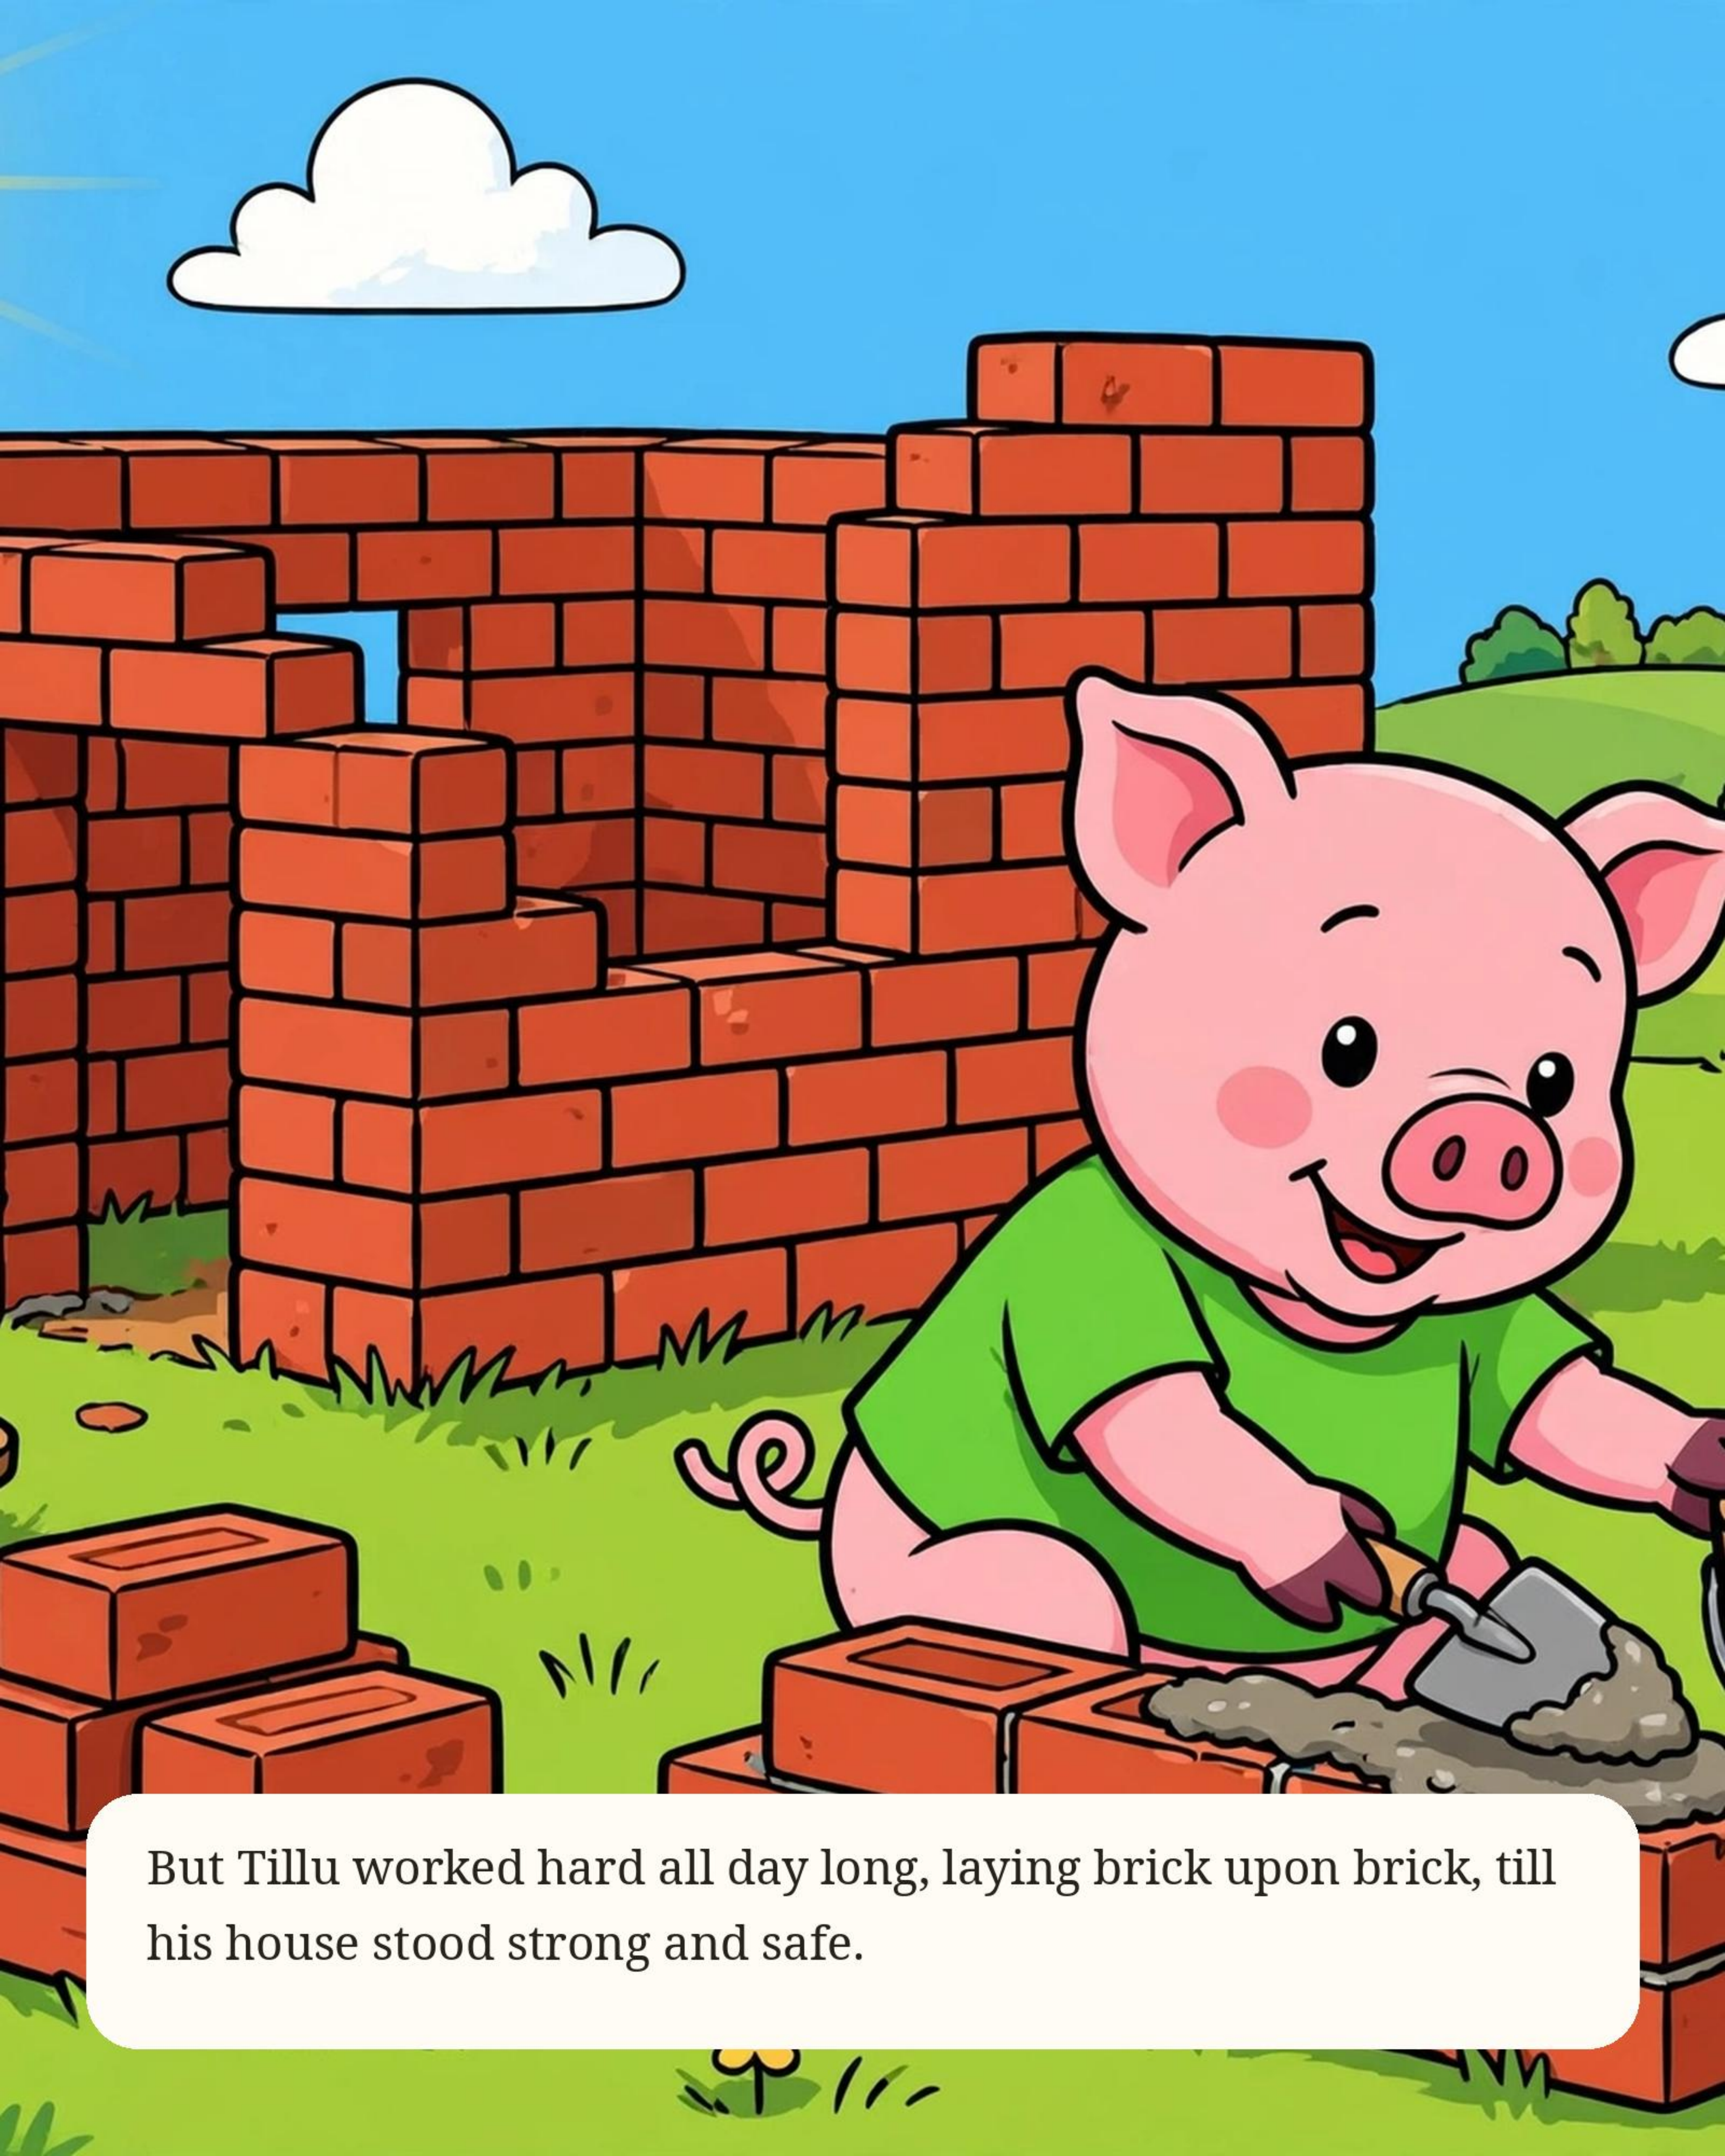

Once upon a time, there were three little pig brothers — Gillu, Pillu, and Tillu. "Time to build our own houses," said Tillu one sunny morning, and off they trotted.

Gillu was in a hurry to go and play, so he built his house of straw. Quick as a wink — done!

Pillu loved games too, so he built his house of sticks. Tidy and quick — done!

But Tillu worked hard all day long, laying brick upon brick, till his house stood strong and safe.

That evening came Gurru the wolf — big and grey and very, very hungry. He knocked on the straw house. "Little pig, little pig, let me come in!" "Not by the hair of my chinny-chin-chin!" squeaked Gillu.

"Then I'll huff, and I'll puff, and I'll blow your house down!" growled Gurru. And with one great WHOOSH — down went the straw house! Gillu ran squealing to Pillu's stick house.

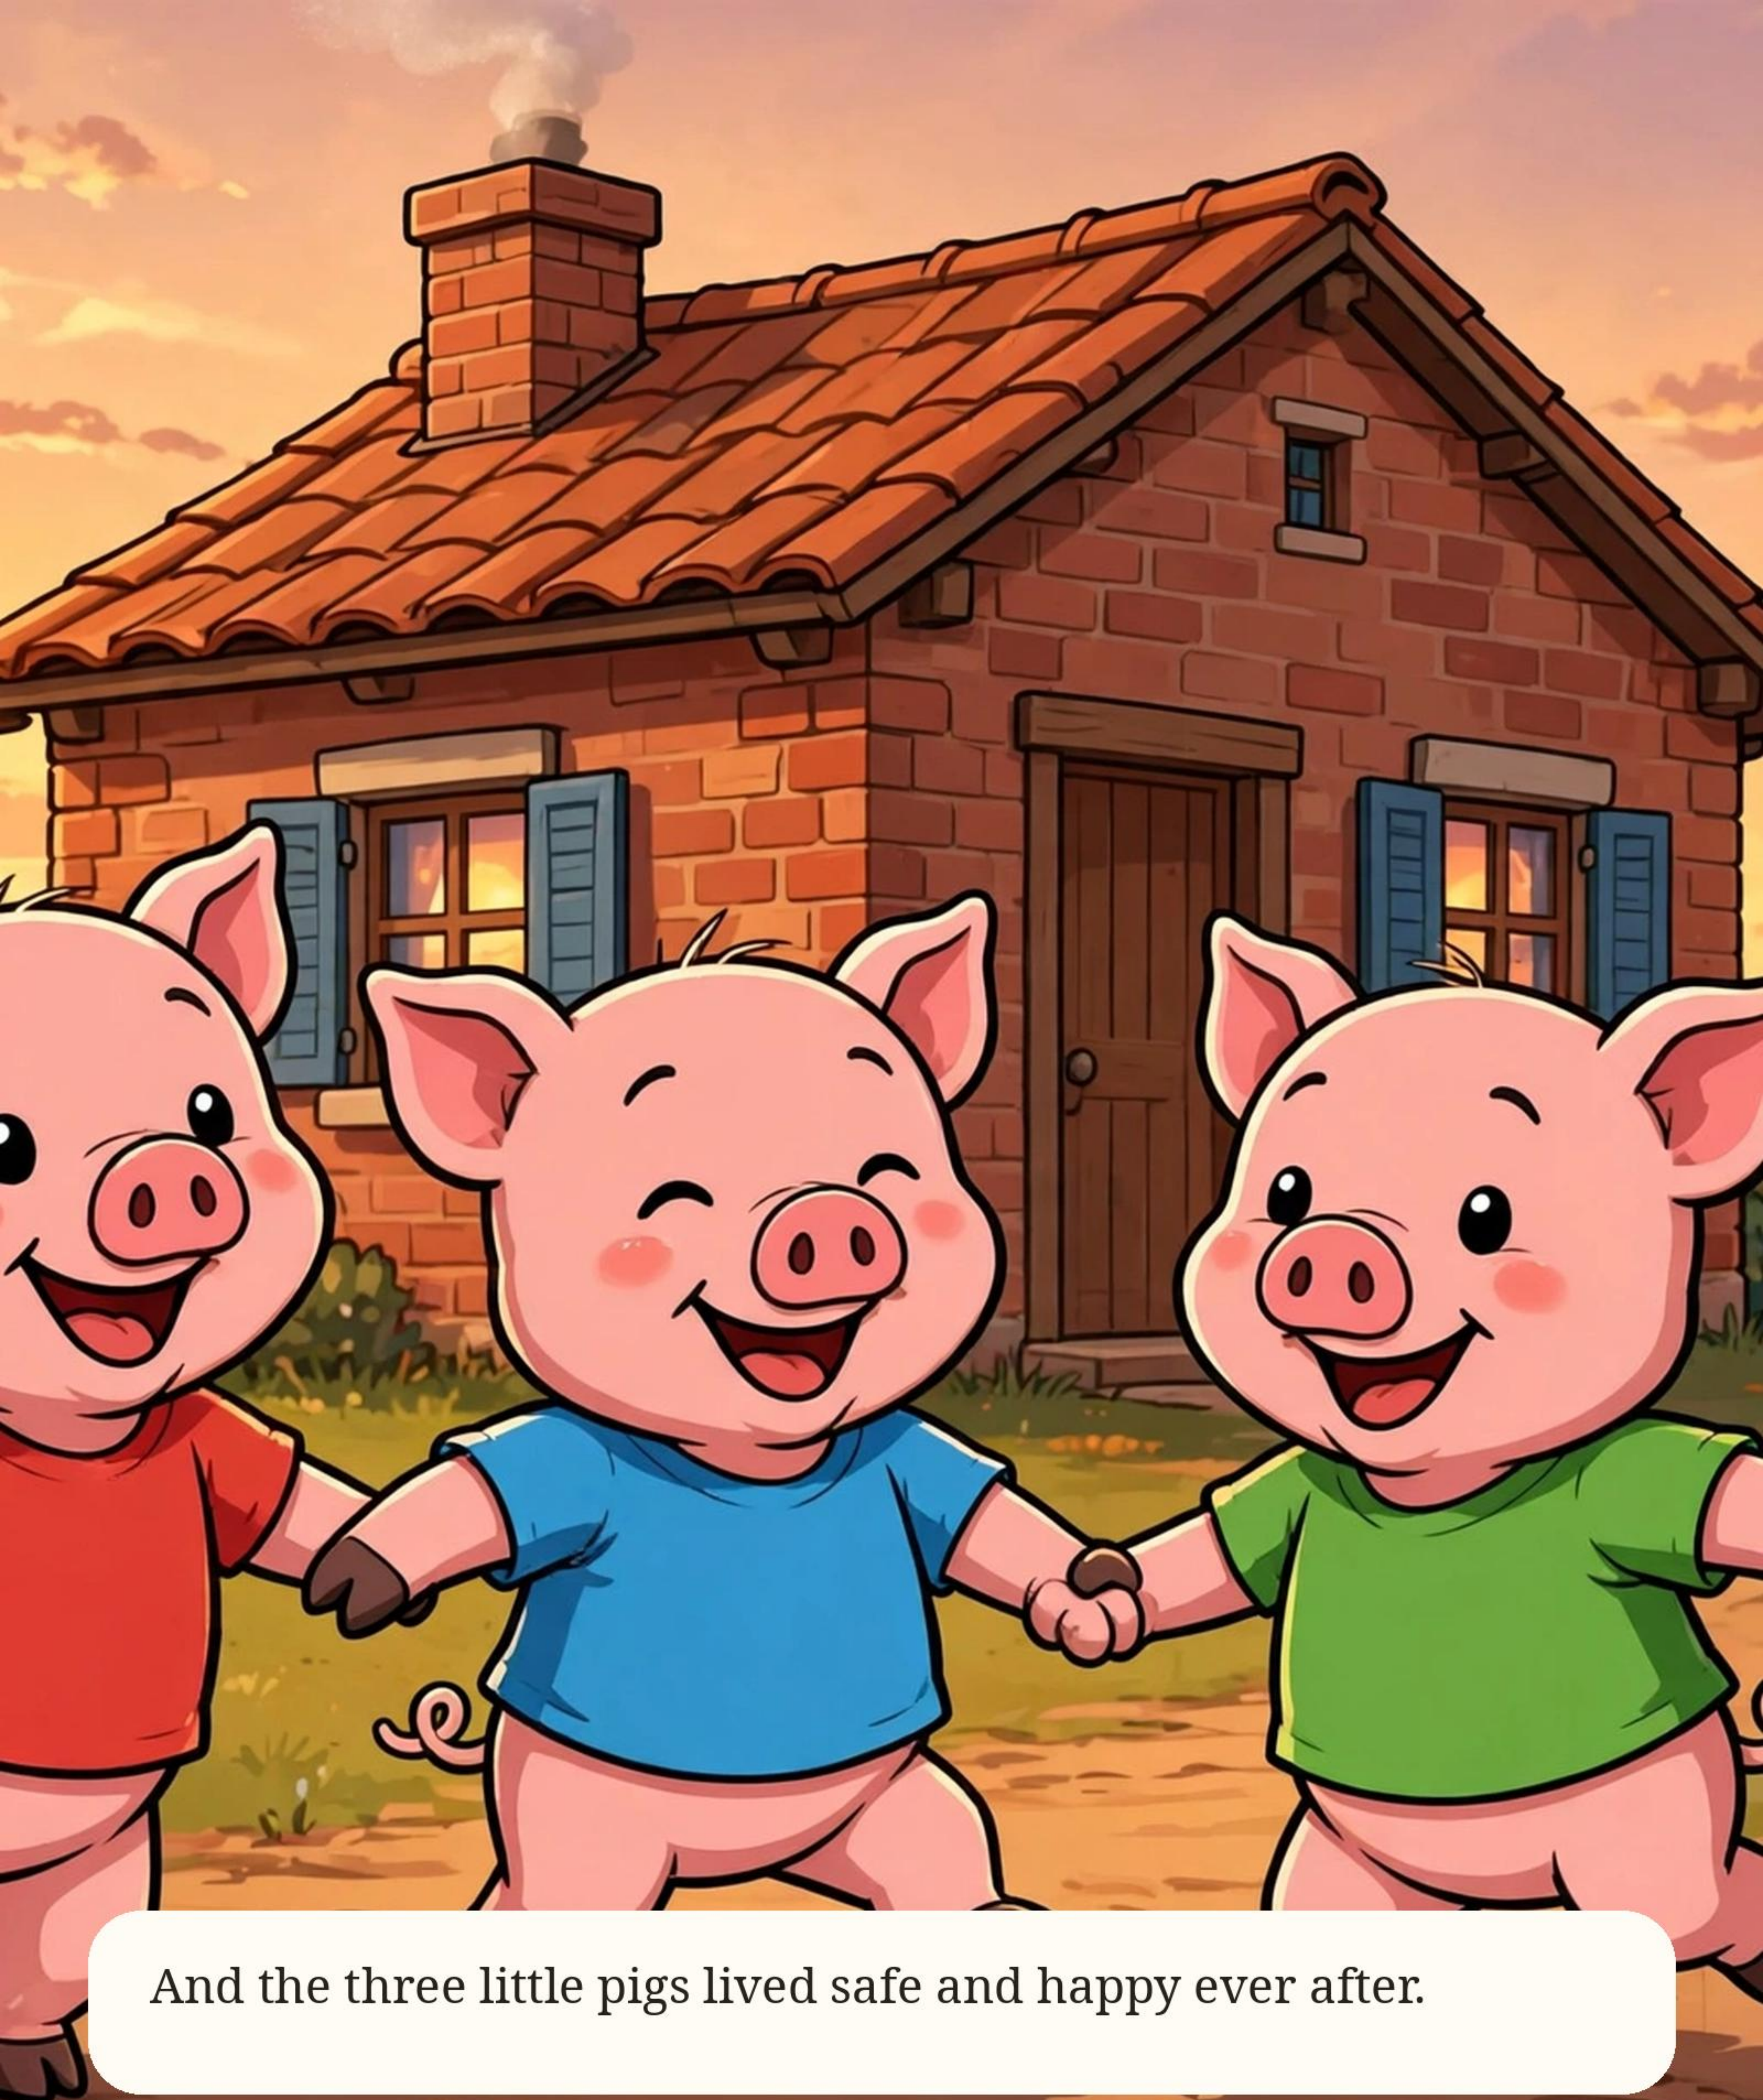

Gurru huffed and he puffed — and down went the sticks too!
The two brothers dashed to Tillu's brick house and slammed the door shut. Click!

Gurru huffed. He puffed. He huffed and puffed and puffed again — but the little brick house did not move one bit.

"I'll come down the chimney!" growled Gurru. But Tillu had lit a cozy fire, and down slid Gurru with a YELP — right out of the house and far, far away!

And the three little pigs lived safe and happy ever after.

Hard work today keeps you safe and happy tomorrow.
